

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An work tool mounted on an arm tip end of a robot is allowed to move toward a teaching point of a robot operation program, and to stop the work tool before it reaches the teaching point. The robot is moved by jog feeding from the stopped position to a target position. In this manner, the teaching point of the robot operation program is corrected.